International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR) Statement

August 2, 2017

RAF recognizes that ITAR registration is required for any United State company to manufacture controlled defense articles, defined on the United States Munitions List (USML) under the U.S Department of State. Currently all RAF catalog products are not controlled on the USML. They are classified under the U.S Department of Commerce as EAR99, therefore no license is required.

To assist our customers, we have pursued and been granted ITAR registration (valid until 02/28/18) as an added level of assurance that RAF Electronic Hardware can protect any controlled technology transferred to us by our customers. In addition, should a customer request a design that meets the criteria of a controlled item on the USML, RAF is properly registered to produce the controlled item.
